PREAMBLE

When a child falls in love with a book, that child will be inspired to want to learn to read, when that child is inspired to want to learn to read, she will then read to learn, and when a child is reading to learn, that is magic, and a world of opportunities and knowledge is opened.

Mission: to transform the lives of children through the magic of literacy, books, and ethic educational support by developing their social, emotional, and spiritual life for their mental wellbeing.

Vision: is for an empowered child to grow and become a self - directed, happy community leader guided by love, character, virtue, and values

Objective: It's focused on creating a safe space for learning to encourage children's agency to love reading, uncover Human oneness, and work together through self-transformation to become models of Peace in their respective communities.

Expected outcomes:

(1) Kids will embody the culture of reading, conscious listening, and authentic communication ability to build relationship with books, Parents, Teachers, Playmates at home, Campuses, Community center etc.

(2) Children suffering from fears and anxiety related to bullying, sexual harassment, isolation, and rejections will learn skills on how to balance their emotional intelligence through the practice of meditation, quietness, listening, yoga exercise and silence mood. This practice has been proofing effective in addressing psycho-emotional traumas while building their self-esteem.
